Merry Christmas

While the high and mighty strut and stamp across the world's stage, six women go out to visit the elderly.

A small boy scores the winning goal in a hockey game. An amateur theatre group produces a smash hit. A town council passes an important new bylaw.

The real lives of real people. People who don't start wars, who don't build empires, who don't go into the history books.

But whose stories are exciting, interesting, vital and important. Stories that should be told.

And we tell these stories every week, because we are your community newspaper.

We are your community newspaper, our arena is not Parliament, the White House, the U.N.—it is your neighborhood, The Community.

But what we have to say about it, touches our readers' lives every bit as that larger drama. Maybe even more.

We are your community newspaper, we are welcomed into hundreds of homes every week. Not as an intruder, shrieking out the harshness, violence and complexity of the world.

But as a friend. A mirror of our readers' lives. Their joys, sorrows, accomplishments.

We are your community newspaper, we are proud, tough, independent. We know when to smile, when to grumble, how to chide, how to help.

We are your community newspaper—in a great community. And we're proud of it.

She was up like a shot

By Jennifer Gilbertson

One Christmas morning I was up like a flash. I don't know why. Well, I do. I want to admit I always do. So in that case that is all a lie. I looked in my stocking first. (I always do). And to my surprise there was a gold, silver, copper horse. Well there you are, another lie. Actually it was gold, it sure was beautiful. I looked on the bottom of it and it said: "I was up for your rub 7 times." At first I thought it was a trick. I tried it, I said I want a present. It was a stupid wish but I thought was a trick. All at once there was a trick. All at once there was a gift before me. All at once I started to cry. It wasn't a trick, and all there was in the gift was a dumb truck. And I am a girl! And I don't know how to say I thank & say... Any way, MERRY CHRISTMAS!

My cat talks to me

My Stacey Spiller
I woke up in the morning at 6.00, and I looked in the stocking and I found Jennie lamp engraved on it. It said To Stacey From Santa. It said on the bottom I wish rub 3 times and wish. So I rubbed it three times. I wished my cat could talk. One day I was patting my cat around and he said to me, do that. That hurts. I

What did you say? I said that hurts. I said I'm taking you to school with me tomorrow. When I took him to school, He told every body what I do to him he even told lies about me. This went on for the rest of the year until Christmas. On Christmas I got up and I went to my stocking and looked in it and a frog was in and under the frog was a

note and it said To Stacey
From Santa it said. I wish it 3 times and make wish.
I know what I wanted. So I spit three times and I wished that my dog couldn't

Mommy writes to Santa

Dear Santa,

Now here you have come last year! By the way, I was talking to your Mrs. the other day and she was dropping hints about getting a interview for Christmas. I'm sorry for all those nasty-mouthed, little olives really talking a lot out of the old girl—wonderful woman your Mrs.—I'd hang on to the old book if I were you. What did you think of the interview and press into I let out for you last year? But that last year "running" from rooftop to rooftop, you!

Well, let's get down to business: what to get me for Christmas. Santa—you old dog—I loved the black angie you left in my stocking last year. Could you please not make me your last call again this time. My husband is getting suspicious and complains about the mess your reindeer make on the roof.

Meanwhile back to my Christmas list. A color TV, new, winter wardrobe and a new home should just about do the trick. If you are unable to get some of the presents mentioned, number one on my list is the trampoline.

Tracy goes on Saturn trip

By Tracy Hank
Grade 6

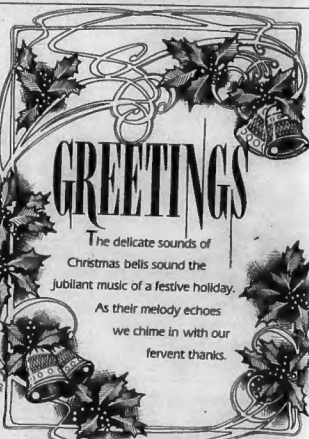

It's Christmas Day, one o'clock in the morning. I was suddenly awakened by a heavy knock on the door. I slowly lifted down the stairs to find my one and only money taking Santa Claus I thought I would hit the roof with disgust, but instead I went through the roof! Up, up and away I went. I landed on the planet, Saturn. I soon realized it was also Christmas here, but ten o'clock in the morning.

All of a sudden Santa went past. But this time Santa was pulling a sled full of reindeer! Wow, it was a weird fantasy, a good dream, or a nightmare? As I followed him, I went into a town soon came into sight. This amazing town to rise. As it flew over each house, up the chimney came presents and they all landed in the sleigh. As this trip came to an end, the sleigh went into a hole in the ground. The hole closed up. Suddenly I felt myself falling. Now I was home in my own bed. It was one fifteen a.m. What! What an adventure! I sure am glad I don't live on Saturn.

Give a smile

It costs nothing, but creates much. It warms those who receive, without impoverishing those who give. It happens in a flash and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None are so rich they can get along without it. And none are so poor but are richer for its benefits. It creates happiness in the home, fosters goodwill in a business. And is the counteragent of friends. It is sent to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and Nature's best antidote for trouble. Yet it comes by thought, by deed, by word or action, for it is something that's so mortally good to anybody until it is given away! And if in the last minute rush of Christmas buying some of our Salespeople should be persuaded to give you a smile, May we ask you to later get it back! For nobody needs a smile so much as those who have none left to give.

Santa quit and elves are shocked

By Judy MacKinnon
Grade 8

One day Santa looked at the calendar. It was December first. Santa said "I better get ready for Christmas. For Santa went and got the elves."

He said, "I want you to go down to a town called Dryden Valley and go to the stores and buy some toys. I would like some elves to get clothes and the other elves to get toys."

about seven hours later the elves returned. They looked on Santa's door. Santa said, "Come in. Come in." The elves came in and said, Santa, Dryden Valley has no toys because Dryden Valley had a storm and there is no way to get in.

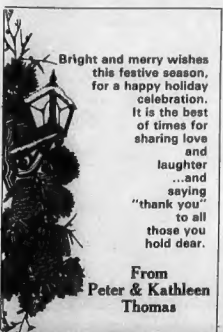

Santa said "What! What are you kidding! Now what do I do? Santa is a low value. I quit! He said I like I scream at my brother."

The elves were shocked. They did not know what to say. The elves went outside and flew down to Dryden Valley and went down to street, saying Santa quit. Santa quit.

The headlines came out. The news was all over the world. Kids wrote to Santa. One letter said Dear Santa, we love you and don't want you to quit so please don't. Love Lisa.

Another letter said, Dear Santa, I want a horrible doll, please will you give me one. Love Heather. Santa cried and cried and cried and Santa wrote back to every letter and said "I'm coming kids. Love Santa."

Santa made toys for everyone. On Christmas eve Santa went to everyone's house all over the world. Everyone was happy that Santa loved. Heather and Lisa got what they wanted.

Snow bells

By Mike Henry
Grade 5
Eleanor B School

The snow came down upon our town,
making things clean and white.
The kids gathered round,
to hear the sound,
of bells ringing in the night.

As laughter rung throughout the night,
in the east we saw a light,
Child is here in us today
We know he's here to stay.

Snow on white and sparkle
It twinkles like a star in the sky
Ladies hanging on the tree tops
How amazing, wonderful, beautiful!

A Recipe for Christmas

Take the tiny cold of a December night,
Add two generous parts of snow, stir in air so clear it lives.
Take a generous heart, mix the wonder of a little girl,
The sparkle of a young boy's glance,
The love of parents, and mix gently before the chimney side.
Add the lightest touch of reindeer's breath,
A sprig of holly, a scent of fir,
Set a mixture to rise in the warmth of a dream of goodwill to men.
It will be almost ready to serve when it bubbles with warmth and good feeling.

Endeavor with a light of a star set in the east,
Garnish with shining balls of gold, silver and red,
Serve to the tune of an ancient song, in the middle of the family table.
This recipe is sufficient for all the men and women you will ever meet.

Happy birthday

By Eric Ryker

A star that led the three wise men to Bethlehem, reindeer that pulled Santa's sleigh, A stocking that Santa fills with candy Celebrating Jesus birthday, bells ringing everywhere.

One special Christmas Eve

One special Christmas Eve I hung my stocking that night and went to sleep. When I awoke I ran down stairs, pgs. 1-2. I looked around in my stocking suddenly I felt a round thing I pulled it out. Why it was a golden ball! It had a piece of paper taped to it. I read your love's wish. I rubbed your love's wish for a playful pup. That night sleep brought me a playful pup. But I sleep's treasured my golden ball.

Magic doll

One Christmas morning I got up and went down stairs. I looked at around. And I just remembered about my stocking. I look in my stocking and there sat a little white doll. There was a little piece of paper hanging from her ear. And I said from her nose and French bar in the stomach. I did that and I whispered And my wish came true. I wished for a horse and it was a horse. I loved it.

This Grinch just hates Christmas

By Kelly Jones
Grade 5
Edmonton School
Oh how I hate Christmas! I especially hate the Whims! I hate Christmas because the dumb Whims wake up to play with their toys, and all the noise, noise, noise! And I give me a headache just thinking about it. But I have a plan to stop all this junk! I will dress up as the jerk they call Santa Claus on Christmas Eve, and take all their toys and games! But I need a reindeer to pull my sleigh! There ain't no reindeer around here! I'll use my robot, Max and put a horn on top of his head. Now it is time to go. I will look up Max and we will bore the toys.
All of a sudden I changed my mind, turned around, started back to Whims and gave back all the presents. And I made a lot of new friends, and I moved into town, and I was happy!

But the dog was off and I was happy because I don't people calling me names.

Council sets dump hours

During the regular council meeting held last Thursday, Drayton Valley town council:

- agreed to install a gate at the sanitary landfill site in the new year. The site will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Residents are asked to follow the dumping times to help prevent littering. The site will be patrolled by RCMP and town bylaw enforcement officers to ensure that the grounds remain relatively clean.

Ayres having any questions on the new hours should contact the town office, said town manager Murray Dool.

Decided to extend the hours of the town office. Effective January, 1982, the town office will remain open until 5 p.m. on Fridays.

Agreed to have a paid town employee assist the existing school parties. The employee is to work in conjunction with the RCMP and the police. Details will include work as an adult agent at the 50th Avenue and 50th Street school crossing.

- appointed Keith Fair as the newest member on the Municipal Planning Commission. Mr. Fair is to begin his duties in 1982.
- gave the first two awards to a mobile home owner bylaw.

The bylaw will ask mobile home park operators to inform council when residents move in and out of the park. This information is needed for planning purposes.

A passed a motion requiring clubs to inform council when they are soliciting funds in connection with the town.

Accepted a set of criteria to be used for the appointment of members to any boards or committees of council.

All members appointed to boards or committees will be considered according to their areas of general interest and knowledge. Council will consider all written, referred and nominated applications for Drayton Valley Council agreed unanimously last Thursday to continue its efforts to find a buyer for the Spruce Valley landfill.

So far council has been unable to find another municipality which will take on the town's share. The plan is jointly owned by Spruce Grove and Drayton Valley.

Although two companies have shown interest in the operation, neither one decided to buy, said mayor Bob Mayhew.

If no other municipalities are willing to buy, then the town will have to discuss other alternatives in the new year, he stated.

Any residents on boards or committees will be made known to the public through advertisements in the local media. Applications will be reviewed by council and council will appoint members as it sees fit.

Puppies waiting for Christmas homes

By Martin Dick

How much is that doggy in the window, the old song goes — but it's a lot for local dogcatcher Danny Carruthers. Carruthers isn't going to be singing much of this festive season, unless he finds a few more people willing to share their Christmas with his furry friends.

Mr. Carruthers has been employed as the dogcatcher with the Town of Drayton Valley since March, and his kennel facility a few miles north can provide a home for about 15 dogs he picks up via regular runs.

As of last week, the kennel has 24 occupants, and Mr. Carruthers says he's at his wit's end trying to cope with the mounting bills for feeding and caring for this crew.

A few of the dogs have been at the kennel for over the specified month waiting period, and according to the rules and regulations they should have been destroyed — not put down, as Mr. Carruthers calls it.

"But they're so different than foster children," he argues. "If nobody wants them, do you put them down?"

He's been operating the kennel using out-of-pocket funds, and says he can't charge the towns for the costs of putting down any animals after the required month's waiting period is over. "I recently said at St. Bernard's I fed out of my pocket for two months," he noted.

It costs roughly $112 per month to feed the dogs in the kennel, he added.

There's a wide range of breeds represented, with most of the dogs being crosses. Shepherds, Collies, Labradors, and Irish Setters and a Cocker Spaniel are a few of the occupants — but it's the puppies Mr. Carruthers said he's hoping he can find good homes for during the Christmas season.

He'd gladly like to see a few parents look at picking up a puppy as a present for their youngsters, but he also wants to avoid the pitfall of having dogs returned to him down the road. "A puppy is nice, but it does grow up," Mr. Carruthers said.

The growing animal needs a lot of care, and it's a big responsibility that extends beyond simply feeding. "A lot of dogs I pick up I rescue from the school grounds," he noted. "They go there because they get the attention from the kids."

Costs for a dog from the kennels vary with the breed wanted, but Mr. Carruthers says he's willing to charge a minimum $5 fee just to see some of the dogs — get a good look.

"We operate with donations," he added. The Ungers provided the actual building materials and interior painting for the kennel, he said, and any other donations from the community — such as monetary and material — will be gratefully accepted.

$267 price tag for human life

The phone rings in the middle of the night. Come quick, the excited voice says, my wife's in labor and the pains are about four minutes apart.

The doctor gets up in the dead of the early morning hours and in the dead of some of the worst weather to snowfall like this. He could spend anywhere from an average couple of hours to all night at the hospital, particularly with the most difficult first deliveries—not to mention the eight or so months of care provided to the expectant mother before the big day.

For all this care and service, do you know the price tag our provincial government affords to his bringing new human life into the world? Exactly $267 and no cents. That's the amount doctors can claim back from Alberta Health Care under the present medicare fee structure.

We challenge you to find any other profession that provides this length of duty, with middle of the night service calls, at the fee the government is paying. One has AHC statement for the past year, and they'd only billed a $267 fee for her maternity visit. But what do you get paid? she wanted.

There were other examples quoted last week during our research on the present battling between the province, and the Alberta Medical Association representing the doctors. They have the doctors' omniscient undercurrent as the fight the oil and service sectors went through with the federal government's National Energy Policy, which sent numerous rigs down south of the border.

Heard one, guess again. One doctor told us of weekly letters from U.S. locales, offering to pay full expenses for the move down and a highly attractive salary. It's scary, especially when you think of the number of specialists that are leaving," he said.

Our doctor spokesman said it's taken a number of years and recommendations from the AMA that weren't acted on for the issue to reach the current impasse, and the decision to start direct billing for patients comes Jan. 1.

We hope it doesn't have to come to this end. Surely the government can see that with other rising costs for today's living, this is one area in which they can't afford to scrimp.

So-called free medicare service for Albertans is an attractive carrot to dangle before the voters' noses at election time, but it's time we started to pay for the quality of services we're getting. Otherwise, progress for an endnote of some of our best doctors south of the border, unless the Americans will be asked tickled to get them as they were our all right.

Perspectives

By Linda Seltenrich

Ever wonder who makes Christmas so special? Why people positively glow with good will? From organized programs like Spouse Anonymous and Dead on Wheels, to the individual who holds the door open for a hurried mother, people tend to give much more freely of themselves during the Christmas season.

As you walk down a busy street during Christmas, amid the hustle and bustle, there always seems to be a ready smile on everyone's face.

There's a feeling of good will throughout the whole town. Individuals try to make everyone's Christmas as enjoyable as possible. Neighbors to town usually hear of an open house for Christmas Day, and shun the one made on a comfortable as possible.

It's beautiful that, in these times of worldwide distress, we can find some semblance of usefulness and good. All too often, we hear about the negative side of the world, the people who do all the goodness never seem to be recognized.

It's wonderful that Christmas brings out the good in most people, or is it that it's only at this time of the year people like these get any acknowledgement? Aren't some people generous all year round?

It gives everyone a warm feeling to hear that someone returned a wallet full of money, or assisted a handicapped person in some way. It probably happens every day, but it isn't then when we hear about it.

We call this feeling of good will the Christmas spirit, but Christmas only comes once a year. It everyone would give of themselves a little more, it could be Christmas all year round.

Other Opinions

Christmas is a time to care about others

Letters

Greatest

The messages we receive from our television sets or our newspapers are often from the hospital. During recent months they've been some even more depressing: mental, physical, regional disaster, within our own country; economic uncertainty—the list goes on. We have a government in

Ottawa apparently quite unaware of the real needs of its constituents. Now our government in Edmonton seems to be building down the same path of insensitivity to the people it is intended to serve. As Christmas approaches, however, let us not forget the saddest human condition of us all: the joy of living is a precious gift blessed by rich abundance and by striking poverty; the fellowship of family and friends; the ever-present opportunity to ensure ourselves and start afresh.

It is indeed a time to be grateful. May we also remember those whose enjoyment is impaired by chronic, long-term or acute illness, loneliness or want. May we learn to care for those less well off than ourselves—not only at Christmas, but throughout the year.

We approach the Christmas season, therefore, in a spirit of hope and understanding.

Please, accept all my best wishes for a blessed Christmas.

man, with health and strength to meet the challenges of the year ahead.

Respectfully,

Clownball delights audience

By Chris Sheehan
A capacity crowd of over 200 people nearly lifted the roof off the Rec Plex with laughter last Wednesday. The point of the laughter was the crazy antics of the Harlem Clowns.

The Clowns brought their basketball circus to Dayton Valley, complete with hilarious comedy routines and expert shot making and passing whirly.

They went up against the Frank Maddock Warriors, and it would be an understatement to say this local high school team was in awe of the Clowns' talent.

Although the final score was close at 54-78 for the Clowns, the point tally was really unimportant. It was the Clowns' showmanship and polished court antics which the audience came to see and they got just what they wanted.

The crowd, especially the large number of youngsters on hand, was thoroughly entertained. Sam's opening Magic Circle performed the Sweet Georgia Brown, to the devastating slam dunks engineered by the likes of Michael "Sky" McWilliams, Ernest Martin and Michael Bogdan.

The Harlequin Clowns' true appeal could be gauged by the large number of kids who waited after the game for a chance to talk to their heroes and get an autograph.

HOW'S THE WEATHER up there, must be the question on the mind of the Frank Maddock defender as a Harlem Globetrotters makes a slam dunk shot. The Globetrotters were in town last week, displaying their basketball wizardry for a capacity crowd at the Rite Place. (Photo by Chris Shumaker)

Flyers avenge loss to Alix

By Chris Sheehan
Flyers emerged on number less to Alix, December 22 winning 7-5 in the arena.
However, the Drayton Valley was pummeled 7-0 on Dec.
19 at the hands of Riverview.
The local senior club was was when, when, three losses and a tie in 11 starts in the Central Alberta Hockey League (CAHL). After dropping two of their last three games, Flyers had three winning games in a row for first place with Rocky Mountain House team.

Drayton Valley got off to a shaky start against Alix on the weekend, and a supported Flyers were going to have trouble breaking out of their two-game losing streak. Warriors got the last marker in the first period, and then Kevin

Henry tied the score early in the second.
Alix jumped back into the lead three minutes later, and Flyers matched two to down on the second about
24. Goals came from Carl Hogan and Gary Connolly.
Drayton Valley ran away with the game in the third, rucking up four goals before Alix finally replied, with their third. Dave Butler,

Warrior's Johnson, Alvin
Burd and Lee Cumberland rounded out the scoring for the winners.

WATCH YOUR STEP, shortly, could well be the words of wisdom offered by Harlem Clowns Ernie, Martin to the referee. The official was a prime target for the Clowns' buffoonery as they played an exhibition game against Frank Maddock Warriors last week.

Highs and lows for Clowns

By Chris Shanahan
Almost everyone looks up to Ernie Martin. But then, when you stand 6 feet, 7 inches, most people have to look up to you.
Martin is a member of the Harlem Clowns basketball team, and his towering height enables him to slam dunk a basketball while hardly leaving the floor.

The Clowns are a small town version of the famous Harlem Globetrotters, and they were in town last Wednesday to play against the Frank Maddock Warriors.

The unanimous opinion of the six-man Clowns lineup during half time on Wednesday was that life on the road is far from glamorous. They commonly play as many as 15 or 20 games in a row, travelling each night from town to town in a team van.

Martin said the Clowns' grueling schedule does affect the team's performance at times. However, he added because he enjoys what he's doing, it's never hard to get up for a game.

"I get physically tired, but mentally no," Martin said. "I get frustrated sometimes because I can't do the things I should be doing. Some nights my shooting is just off."

However, the life of a basketball clown does have its rewards. Martin, along with all the other players, admitted the sport is lucrative. Most said money is the main reason they joined the Clowns, but Martin feels the travelling is also a big part.

He claims he would have never gotten around like he has if it wasn't for basketball. All the players on the Clowns are young (the average age is 20) and single, so being away from home is a lot less of a problem, he added. They're now in the middle of a tour through western Canada.

Martin is in his 10th year with the Clowns, and he has moved up gradually through the ranks to his present role as a showman. His career has included stints at Massey High School in Denver, Colorado, and two years of varsity ball at the Southern University of Louisiana.

He said it takes a special of 15 years to become a truly great basketball showman. Martin isn't interested in staying with it that long, and he is considering getting out of the game in the near future. However, he's still not sure what he wants to do after basketball.

For now, though, Martin plans to continue leading the Harlem Clowns as they trek from town to town, displaying their own brand of court magic.

Our patrons will be sorry to learn that Jill Hladky has left the library staff. Jill was a great asset to the library and her patrons, always giving patronage that was well-served—and with a library smile that was warm, 70. Come in and visit us often!

We welcome Gladys Rae to the library staff. She will get acquainted with you on Fridays and Saturdays.

A belated welcome to Brian Munstly, recently appointed to serve on the Drayton Valley Municipal Library Board.

Surprise Party

Thanks to our patrons of all ages who accepted the invitation to our surprise party on Dec. 12 to celebrate our first year in the new library facility. A variety of activities kept everyone busy, while parents visited over a cup of coffee and sampled cake, the boys and girls trimmed the Christmas tree, then enjoyed games.

A special thanks to Monica and Roseanne of the Western Review for their coverage. Trade you pictures, Monica! Her's Radio and TV kindly loaned stereo equipment for the occasion, that we might enjoy Christmas music. Thank you!

Christmas Story Books

The library has a good selection of Christmas story books for children. Bedtime stories will be a special treat with these new titles.

Best Christmas Book Ever (Story); It's Christmas (Picture); Hugs and the Ministry of Holidays (Novel); and

Night After Christmas (Novel)

The Library and Friends is a new display featuring pictures of our library visitors. Candis pictured is forward!

At any moment, a camera may pop out from the bookshelves and you had better be smiling—'cause you'll be a "star" of the Library and Friends.

Drayton Valley Municipal Library Board consists of: chairman Tom Spelling, council representative Jim Wall, members Tim Malachuk, Brian Munstly and Laurie Thack.

Jones birth gives several people new titles

By Edith Dohy
543-4831

Sergeant and Mrs. Gordon Reynolds of Calgary, B.C., are here with their children, Richard and Corina, to spend Christmas with Gordon's mother and long time friend, Chester Miller.

Gordon has served over 18 years in the army. His various postings include two with the army of occupation in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Badgerup are looking forward to making the acquaintance of their first granddaughter some time during the holidays. Tracy Lee was born to Leonard and Sheri Lee Hender in Fort McMurray recently.

Worship good wishes for a happy future to Mr. and Mrs. Duane Philip Thompson, who were married here on Dec. 14.

Friday Day will find the entire Haddon clan assembled at the present home of Albert and Olive's five children, seven grandchildren.

run, he knew and a guest or two will make for a busy and happy gathering.

Bruce Rogers, son of Len and Lili Rogers, is at present in New Zealand. His mother says he loves the country.

It is feared that Rolando Deane will be wearing a hospital collar for some time. She sustained this painful injury in a road accident, when her car went out of control on the ice and was struck by another vehicle.

When a seven pound, seven ounce daughter was born to Shawn and Helen Jones in the Royal Alberta Hospital in Edmonton on Dec. 18, several people acquired new titles.

Shawn and Helen became father and mother, of course; Joe and Bernice Roseville are now grandpa and grandma as are Terry and Norma Deane. We understand that Norma, who lives in Barrie, Ont., is expecting word to see her

The baby is the seventh great-grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Claude Price.

Side bending postures can be simple

By Linda Giroux
I learned to do color coding over the weekend. It is one of the latest trends in fashion. You are to choose clothing in colors which enhance your natural skin tone. The color coding is a simple matter of matching the color of the clothes made on look washed out, others blended in with my skin and hair. The best colors were those which brought the face forward. For me, light blue, orange and green were poor choices, while purple and black were very satisfying. I can hardly wait to get my own color code book to begin color coding people.

Naturally to look your best, you must feel your best, and be in harmony with the total you. A few minutes daily yoga program is all you need to start. As you learn to enjoy doing the postures, you will increase the time spent.

Side bending postures can be very simple, or very advanced.

For a beginning side bend, try the Charlie Chaplin bend. Stand with the heels together, toes out, raise both arms, interlocking the thumbs. Inhale, then exhale slowly, breathe as far to the left as you can. Keep the tummy tucked in.

Hold a moment, then inhale back up, and exhale to the right side. Repeat two or three times to each side. For a more demanding side bend, try the half moon. This is a classical yoga side bend. The feet are wide apart. Bend in the left side, placing the left hand on the outside of the left knee. The right arm is then bent in a graceful curve over the head. Turn the head to look up into the hand of the right elbow.

Hold the posture, breathing freely for 10 or more seconds. Check to make sure that both knees are locked. Slowly reverse the posture, bending to the right side. Repeat once or twice on each side, depending upon how long you are comfortable holding the posture.

The pigeon side bend is for the more flexible person. Begin seated on the floor. Bend the left knee bringing the heel up against the body.

Bring the right leg out to the right side, turn the knee down, and bend the knee so that the sole of the foot is facing upward. Cross the right elbow around the right leg or the left arm, and interlock your fingers either behind or above your head. You may have to bend the neck forward at first. Hold the posture for at least 10 repeats to the left side.

Side bends are usually thought of as waist exercises, but also help to limber up the spine. They are an important part of any exercise program.

Flyers game...

Flyers' home game against Edmonton scheduled for Dec. 25 has been postponed and will be made up at a later date.

Hagen played package his strongest game of the season for Flyers, providing the spark the club needed to the second period to tie the contest. Gosselin and Campbell were game stars for Drayton Valley. Gordy McDermott played a steady game between the pipes for the Flyers.

Flyers suffered a total loss in the third period of their game in Edmonton last Wednesday, and this met them the two points. The clubs were tied 2-2 into the third period, when Drayton Valley suddenly stopped playing and allowed Edmonton to pump five unanswered goals. Then, under head coach, he hit on a skate blade and was out for several minutes in the face. His departure seemed to signal Flyers' demise.

Dear Sheila,
For Christmas I would like an accordion, a sled and a puppy. My sister would like a toy bulldog, a smart and a swimming Barbie.
Thank You.

Good-bye
Yours truly

No strike set

Local nurses to stay at work

By Monica Dick
A strike announced Tuesday by the United Nurses of Alberta is set for Jan. 1, but nurses on the picket lines won't be joined by their counterparts in Drayton Valley. Sandy Allen, president of UNA local 28, said a walkout at this time "is not likely," following the results of a strike vote held here Dec. 21.

Of 35 members eligible to vote on the issue, 21 did vote—with 18 saying no to strike action, and 13 backing the UNA's stand. "The situation here is different than in the big cities," Mrs. Allen noted, as larger centres often have alternative locations for emergency medical treatment. "Here, it's just the hospital," she added.

Local nurses will again meet Jan. 4 when most are back from Christmas holidays, she noted, and will decide on a future course of action. This would include another vote to see if strike action is favored, Mrs. Allen said, particularly if a provincial election drops on for a lengthy period of time.

Another strike vote with the majority favoring a walkout would be necessary in order for the local nurses to legally participate in any provincial action, according to UNA executive director Simon Ramond.

The Drayton Valley local was one of 17 of the UNA's 87 provincial chapters that voted not to back strike action, he added. "It's mostly in smaller areas, and represents maybe 100 members or about four per cent," he noted. Mr. Ramond said he was not prepared to comment on any UNA plans concerning these 17 locals, and added "we're not going to alter the results in the small locals to affect the overall results."

At least 70 per cent of UNA membership voted to back the strike action, Mr. Ramond said.

Council gets

$150,000 present

Town council received an unexpected Christmas present last week in the form of a 25-year debenture for $150,000.

The debenture, which had been authorized by a previous council in 1979, had never been issued. It was to be borrowed to help pay for work on the sewer lines in Drayton Valley.

Payment for the project, however, came out of general revenues fund. The $150,000 was never collected and is still available to the town.

Council agreed to receive the information and take the issue to the next meeting of the Finance committee for recommendations.

SANTA CAME EARLY Christmas Eve and three-year-old Jason found a velvet shirt to keep him warm in one of the parcels. Jason is the son of Pete and Helen Wayline of Rocky Rapids.

Budget plans begin

Drayton Valley council gave town administration authority last week to proceed with preparation of the 1982 operating budget, with instructions to draw up the document under guidelines of a 15 per cent increase for local taxpayers.

However, Town administrator Mary Doel was quick to point out this does not necessarily mean taxes will rise by the 15 per cent figure, as several other factors will have to be considered before the 1982 mill rate is established.

The town will send about $1.6 million as its operating budget beginning in the new year, Mr. Doel noted, and council's approval is a prerequisite for the budget paper presented at last Monday's meeting will enable staff to proceed with the budgeting process.

The 15 per cent could be cutbacking," he noted. "It doesn't necessarily mean taxes will increase along these lines, but it's a figure we've established for operating the municipality."

The completed budget is expected to be presented for council's approval sometime in May, he added.
